KEYS TO A GREAT RESTORE
Tina Shaw-Cox, CVA
ReStore Development & Support Consultant
tcox@habitat.org
State of the Habitat ReStore Community

- 906+ stores in 49 states
- 46% are less than 10 years old
- $527 Million Gross Sales
- $133 Million Profit to serve families
- $37.56 average SPSF
of ReStores by Fiscal Year
The Habitat ReStore “brand”

BRAND
perceived emotional corporate image as a whole.

IDENTITY
visual aspects that form part of the overall brand.

LOGO
identifies a business in its simplest form via the use of a mark or icon.
• “Clean, friendly and safe place to find treasures”
• “The place to donate your hard-goods”
• “ReStores support the HFH mission”
We build strength, stability and self-reliance through shelter.
Great ReStores...

Are focused on donors and donations: We are in the donation business, not the retail business. A steady supply of high-quality donations, driven by a deliberate and systematic procurement process, is critical for every great ReStore.

Are market-driven: Great ReStores strive to understand their particular market and serve the needs of that market. Each ReStore determines what it sells and what it will charge based on donation supply and customer demand in its market. Staying current with ever-changing local markets is essential to success.

Are marketing machines: No matter how successful we think we are, we must never assume that we are well known to our potential donors and customers. Great ReStores are constantly getting their message in front of the public through every available outlet: word of mouth, good press, a great website (optimized for search engines), paid advertising, social media, special events and promotional materials.

Operate in good real estate: There is truth to the cliché “Location! Location! Location!” Great ReStores are convenient and easy to find; have adequate parking; and are located where donors, customers and volunteers feel safe. Bad real estate is the single greatest inhibitor to a great ReStore and is the hardest and most expensive thing to fix later. Take your time and do this right. Get an expert’s help in making this important decision.

Are all about empathy: It is not about us! To create the ideal experience for donors, volunteers and customers, we must understand it from their perspective. Strong ReStores constantly evaluate their operation from the vantage point of an outsider.

Invest in their people: Take care of the people who take care of you. Training, resources, competitive compensation and opportunities to grow will attract and retain great talent. Great talent is required to run a great ReStore.

Have a strong female donor and customer strategy: Women control most household incomes in America. Focusing on the female customer does not exclude the male customer, but ensures that more discerning customers will feel welcome.

Emphasize merchandise turnover: Turnover is the number of times during a given period that inventory is sold and replaced. The best ReStores have regular markdowns and sales, so there is an emphasis on a high turnover of merchandise. The good merchandise will turn over automatically (via the cash register), so a store can quickly have 10, 30 or even 50 percent dead merchandise on the floor. Get that stuff out of the store to make room for better or different merchandise.

Have a strong volunteer program: The benefits of a strong, regular volunteer program go well beyond the obvious advantage of keeping labor costs down. Volunteers often have skills that our paid staff may not have and can be a great source of referrals for donors and customers. Dedicated volunteers lend a real sense of community to a ReStore that cannot be duplicated at a for-profit venture.

Don’t starve their business: As in any other business, it will cost money to make money. Prudent investments in infrastructure, maintenance, equipment and advertising are all necessary for a thriving business.

Form partnerships: Great ReStores are vibrant members of their community, partnering with local nonprofits, organizations and businesses, and within the Habitat family.

Embrace the Habitat for Humanity mission: We have a great mission! Why hide from it? Habitat for Humanity is one of the most recognizable brands in the world, and the best ReStores use it aggressively and with great care. Use your store to connect your customers, donors and volunteers to the impact of Habitat in your community and around the world.

Habitat ReStore Support Group

restore@habitat.org
“Keys to a Great ReStore” Self-Assessment

Give your ReStore a rating from 1-4 for each key (1 = meeting none or very little of criteria; 2 = meeting some of criteria with lots of room for improvement; 3 = meeting much of criteria; 4 = consistently meeting almost all of criteria).

1. Great ReStores are focused on donors and donations: We are in the donation business, not the retail business. A steady supply of high-quality donations, driven by a deliberate and systematic procurement process, is critical for every great ReStore.

   Score (circle one): 1 2 3 4

2. Great ReStores are market-driven: Great ReStores strive to understand their particular market and serve the needs of that market. Each ReStore determines what it sells and what it will charge based on donation supply and customer demand in its market. Staying current with ever-changing local markets is essential to success.

   Score (circle one): 1 2 3 4

3. Great ReStores are marketing machines: No matter how successful we think we are, we must never assume that we are well known to our potential donors and customers. Great ReStores are constantly getting their message in front of the public through every available outlet: word of mouth, good press, a great website (optimized for search engines), paid advertising, social media, special events and promotional materials.

   Score (circle one): 1 2 3 4

4. Great ReStores operate in good real estate: There is truth to the cliche: “Location! Location! Location!” Great ReStores are convenient and easy to find; have adequate parking; and are located where donors, customers and volunteers feel safe. Bad real estate is the single greatest inhibitor to a great ReStore and is the hardest and most expensive thing to fix later. Take your time and do this right. Get an expert’s help in making this important decision.

   Score (circle one): 1 2 3 4

5. Great ReStores are all about empathy: It is not about us! To create the ideal experience for donors, volunteers and customers, we must understand it from their perspective. Strong ReStores constantly evaluate their operation from the vantage point of an outsider.

   Score (circle one): 1 2 3 4

6. Great ReStores invest in their people: Take care of the people who take care of you. Training, resources, competitive compensation and opportunities to grow will attract and retain great talent. Great talent is required to run a great ReStore.

   Score (circle one): 1 2 3 4
Donor Driven Model

impacts every aspect of our strategy
Market-Driven
Marketing Machines
Operate In Good Real Estate
Trade Offs for low-cost location

- Fewer high-income shoppers
  - Result: Lower price points
- Fewer drop-offs, more pickups
  - Result: Much higher cost per donation
- Longer drive times for pickups
  - Result: much lower efficiency
- Less top-of-mind awareness within target donor demographic
  - Result: Higher marketing costs
- Uncomfortable/inconvenient for volunteers
  - Result: More paid staff
Great customer service starts with EMPATHY
Invest In Their People
Training Opportunities

• Habitat 101 (local, national, and international)
• ReStore University 201 (in-person training: March & Oct)
• Online ReStore videos and training information
• Safety training (My.habitat and Lockton)
• “ART Academy” (Donation manager training – Sept.)
• “New Store University” (web based)
• Habitat Learns (MyHabitat)
Inclusive Donor & Customer Strategy
Emphasize Merchandise Turnover

At which store would you rather shop?
How do we maximize our space?

• Look at a single square foot of the floor.
• How much does this need to generate to earn its keep?
  – Sales per square foot
• As much as possible, eliminate and/or shrink all spaces that aren’t sales space
• Become obsessive about making sure that square foot earns its keep – Sales per square foot by department
• It’s about the value of the space, not about the price of the stuff!
Strong Volunteer Program
Don’t Starve The Business

[Image of a truck with a sign that reads, "DON'T DUMP YOUR STUFF...DONATE IT!"
WE PICK UP!]

[Image of a truck with a sign for Habitat for Humanity ReStore]
Form Partnerships

Fill a bag and make a difference!

Habitat for Humanity
Earth Day Event 4/19-4/30

Donate at any of the following Savers stores:
Value Village
MD: Adelphi | Suitland | Brooklyn Park | Silver Spring
Savers Thrift Superstore
Woodbridge, VA | Parkville, MD
Unique Thrift
Falls Church, VA | Wheaton, MD | Silver Spring, MD

Visit savers.com for location information

Be sure to tell the Donation Attendant that your donation is for Habitat for Humanity!

Items collected help fund:

ReStore
ReCreate Fall 2014
Members of our community committed to creating a more beautiful and endurable world through creative reuse showcase how they are choosing to make their neighborhoods more environmentally and economically sustainable.

Recreate Fall Event
Saturday 10am - 4pm
404 Madison St

We are collecting:
Clothing
Jewelry
Accessories
Handbags
Shoes
Linens

Repurposed items!

Recycled Art

*Raffle eligible with a donation of 3 or more non-perishable Items. Great prizes from SSF Submission Academy and Edwards Steakhouse!

FREE ELECTRONICS RECYCLING EVENT

Saturday • January 5th, 9am to 2pm
Habitat for Humanity ReStore
12827 Harbor Blvd. • Garden Grove
Garden Grove Blvd. & Harbor

Proceeds to benefit:

Computers - Monitors - Televisions - Cell Phones
MP3 Players - Ink & Toner Cartridges - Printers
Microwaves - Cables & Wires - Laptops - All Electronics
Embrace HFH Mission
Any Questions?
A “good” ReStore - Benchmarks

- Occupancy: 14-18% of gross
- Open: ?
- FTEs: ?
- Sales/Square Foot: $45
- Margin: 25-30%
- Payroll: 30-40% of gross
- Marketing: 4-7% of gross
- Size: 14,000+ sq. ft.
- Location: 10-15 minutes from donors
ReStore Manager Roles & Responsibilities

A ReStore manager (director) is responsible for everything the ReStore does or fails to do.

• Drive Sales
• Secure Donations
• Maintain standards of incredible Customer and Donor Service
• Set and hold accountable Performance Standards
• Establish and reinforce Ethical Standards
• A Leader for entire staff, paid and unpaid.
Key Attitudes of Great Manager

- Optimistic
- Lifelong learner
- Leader and team player
- Empathetic
- Willing to take ownership
- Infectiously enthusiastic
- Confident in self but not arrogant
- Creative problem solver
- “People person”
- Patient
- Entrepreneurial
- Autonomous
- Flexible
We build strength, stability and self-reliance through shelter.